these curves can result in the ribs constricting lungs and heart function

it is obvious that such a group, however small, exercises considerable influence on its members' behaviour, and produces a strong sense of belonging and feeling of dependence.