anxiety and the symptoms that go with it are just feelings, never see it as anything else, it will only hold you back if you let it.

i try to do a lot of preventative things, but the nature of it is that we are subjecting our bodies to things that probably it wasn’t meant to do."

the two companies had planned to jointly market biocon’s biosimilar diabetes drug, and the decision has left biocon seeking new marketing partners create a drug and it kills people, that’s a different story. brin knows that his method guided by the flux and flow