The main proven benefits are in people with diseases and we are generally taking them to slightly correct for extremely mild disorders we might have. Ultimately this will allow us to tailor our drug dosages to reduce toxicity, or side effects, and increase effectiveness.